Mouried of the Micropolitam Railroad Company.

To the Honorable the Senates and House of Representatives of the United States.

The namorals of the President and Directors of the Micropolitan Railroad Company respectfully shows to your honorable bedies:

That a bill was passed by Congress at the second session of the Thirty-second Congress, and approved. March 18, 1835, genuing the right seed of Maryland, to lay out and construct a railroad from any point in connertion: the street of Recipian (to have been appeared to the Recipiant of Recks, to Georgetown, in the District of Columbia: the street of Recipiant of the State of Maryland, crossing the Agent and the second of the Recipiant Railroad Company, as construct a real front own, in Washington country, Maryland, crossing the Agent and the second of 1855, passed a bill to incorporate in the Netwopolitan Railroad Company, as construct a real front own, in Washington country, Maryland, crossing the point in the Recipiant and the necessary subscription having been oblained thereupon the company was organized. Your memorializes show that it is now deemed through the city of the said action through the city of the said through the city of the Hagerstown, a continuous railroad communication will be opened by a new and highly favorable route with the Lake regiva.

In view of these considerations and others that could be urged, addressing themselves at once to the national interests, your memorialists pray for the passage of the law before mentioned, and also that your honorable bodies may authorize and empower the said railroad company to establish in connexion with and as an auxiliary portion of the Metropolitan railroad within the District of Columbis, a double track railroad through Pennsylvania avenue, in the city of Washington, from Georgetown to the Navy Yard and Potomac river, with a lateral connexion from a convenient point adjoining the Capitol grounds to the depot of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, with the privilege of using said tracks for the conveyance of passengers by horse power.

In consideration of the above grants the Metropolitan Bailroad Company, by their president and directors, pledge themselves, at all times and forever, to transport the public mails free from all charge or compensation, other than the above grants, over their entire road and its lateral branches, from the city of Washington to its connexison with the Baltimore and Ohio railcoad near the Point of Rocks, in the State of Maryland.

By order of the Board of Directors:

F. DODGE, President.

AGRICULTURE IN CALIFORNIA.

An official report of the last annual fair of the California State Agricultural Society, held at Stockton, is replete with interest, showing, as it does, the rapid strides with which this young Facific State is making in the development of her extenordinary natural resources. The following extracts from the report of a committee authorised to visit the most noted farms, orchards and vineyards in the State, contain some reference to "agricultural wonders" which may well excite astenishment:

"Having taken staamer to Sacramento, we reached 'Hock Farm,' the present home of the noble pioneer, Gen. J. A. Satter. This is a fine, healthy location, six miles below Marysville, on the west bank of the Feather river. 'Hock Farm' has upon it twenty-five hundred grape vines in full bearing, besides a large number of smaller ones, of many choice varieties. Also, five hundred peach, four hundred fig, fifty pomegranate, and a large number of almond and olive trees, all in bearing; and twenty-five hundred trees in nursery. Gen. Sutter has made both wine and brandy, of excellent quality, during the last year, and in considerable quantities. His grounds are irrigated from a well, sixty feet deep, the water being mised by steam power, and distributed over his grounds in wooden fiumes.

"Mr. G. C. Yount lives ten miles from Napa city. His

"Mr. G. C. Yount lives ten miles from Napa city. His farm comprises thirtsen thousand acres, nine hundred enclosed and under cultivation; seven hundred acres in wheat, averaging thirty bushels to the acre; one hundred in grass. Fifty acres has been cultivated to wheat twenty-two years, and produces from twanty-five to fifty bushel to the acre. In the fruit garden are nine thousand grape vincs, three hundred peach trees; in nursery, two hundred and fifty apple trees—measured a "Gioria Mundi" apple, twelve and a half inches in circumference, and two mouths yet to mature. Measured a rose bush, nine inches at base, two years old, spreading its lateral branches hundreds of feet over the house.

Napa, Sonoma, Santa Rosa, Petaluma, and the Russian River valleys, just visited, are well worthy special notice, being the most lovely and picturesque spots in the State; climate, too, being even; mean temperature about 70 deg., rendered humid by the sea breezes, which are partly broken by the coast range of mountains. These valleys run parallel to each other, and are separated by spurs of the coast range, which are from one hundred to one thousand feet in height, covered with a luxuriant growth of red-wood, and several varieties of oaks, pines, maples, and other forest trees, and a great variety of evergreen shrubbery, and is one continued stretch of beautiful, romantic, mountain and valley scenery, unsurpassed. These valleys will, in a few years, become the great vintage ground of the north, with their wine presses dotting the plains, and the vintage time will become an important yearly epoch.

Mr. E. H. Comstock, eight miles from Stockton, has a farm of twenty-two hundred acres he mows for hay. One hundred acres, two hundred acres he mows for hay. One hundred acres, two hundred acres he mows for hay. One hundred acres, two hundred of which he this year summer-fallows, two hundred acres hundred sare, sowed very late, has this year yielded three thousand bushels of screenings.

THE NEWS FROM UTAH.

The following pleasant tidings of General Pierce and wife, who are sojourning in the island of Madelra, are furnished by a New York correspondent of the New Hampshire Gasette:

"Advices from Madelra, via England, as late as the 10th of last month, gave us fiattering accounts of Mrs. Pierce's health, at which her many Portsmouth friends will rejoice. The ex-President still continues to win golden opinions from all sorts of people. On the 6th of April he had a grand reception at the consular house, at which the dignitaries of the island, military, civil, and ecclesiastic, all assisted, as well as the English resident nobility and gentry, and the inhabitants generally. His manners, unpretending yet dignified, charm everybody. Indeed, the General owes his success in political life, next to his talents, incontestably great, to his graceful, easy, and conciliatory manners. Would that many of our great men would cultivate 'the minor morals more.' The personal popularity would wait upon eminent and acknowledged ability. The United States frigate Cumberland, which was still at Madeira when we last heard from the island, gave the ex-President a grand entertainment on board. He was received with the customary salute, and each gun of the frigate was answered by the Pertuguese fort at Loo Rock; and the same imposing demonstration attended his return to the shore, which was crowded with the sympathetic population."

crowded with the sympathetic population."

"A New Armores.—Mrs. Stevenson, widow of the late Hon. A. Stevenson, of this State, formerly United States minister to England, is about publishing a series of letters, giving an account of her experience at the court of St. James. Her book is said, by those who have read it, to abound in personal description and piquant gossip."

The above news has been going the rounds of the newspapers all over the Union for more than a week. We have not, for a time, come across a paragraph that contains as many egregious blunders. Mr. Stevenson's widow never was in England, certainly not as the wife of Mr. Stevenson, as their marriage took place long after his return from the mission at St. James. Mr. Stevenson was married three times. We have heard that his second wife, Miss Coles, of this county, who was with him whilst he was minister to England, left a most interesting diary and many charming letters, in which her personal observation at court and in the high social circles of England are told in a most charming style. Whether these letters will ever be published or not, we cannot speak with authority. But, should they be given to the world, it will not be under the authorship of the present Mrs. Stevenson, but by some member of the Coles family, in whose hands they have remained since the death of the second Mrs. Stevenson.—Charlotteville (Va.) Advocate.

THE COOLY TRADE.

The Overland Friend of China of the Seth of March contains the details of a presecution that was instituted against a firm that was extensively engaged in the cooly trade, who had shipped on board a vessel for Havana a number of "appendices" considerably in excess of the vessel's register. The proof appeared to be conclusive enough, and a verdict was brought in for the prescution—a mere nominal verdict—amounting to but a very mild concare of the shippers. The trial is chiefly interesting to us, however, in so far as it unveils the process of transferring human beings into marchaedise for the Cubs market. In the first place, the ship hernelf had long been off the register of "lettered" shipping, and had been begging a purchaser at Hong-Kong for as insignificant assum as $760 but a short time before the contract was entered on I and yet as less than two hundred and seventy-five human beings were consided to her custody or protection for a voyage of many thousands of miles. The shippers alleged on the trial that they had agreements with every cooly on board, but on being challenged to the proof only sixty-nine could be found. After leaving Angier the ship encountered adverse winds, and had to anchor in the straits of Sunda till the 15th of April, during which period the typhus fever broke out, and by the time they reached St, Helena, on the 28th of June, (one hundred and six days from Hong-Kong,) fifty-five coolies had died. After leaving St. Helena another disease came on, and many of the strongest were taken ill, and died at a day's notice. The result was that of two hundred and seventy-five who left Hong-Kong the captain was able to land in Cuba only one hundred and seventy-five who left Hong-Kong the captain was able to land in Cuba only one hundred and seventy-five who left Hong-Kong the captain was able to land in Cuba only one hundred and seventy-five who left Hong-Kong the captain was able to land in Cuba only one hundred and seventy-five almost theredible. The term of service is nominally eight years, but

The whole number of persons employed in Massachusetts in the manufacture of boots, shoes and leather, is estimated at about eighty thousand. By the fourth annual report of the Boston Board of Trade, just published, it appears that Boston is the largest shoe market in the world. Recently several gentlemen canvassed the trade, from whom it was ascertained that there are two hundred and eighteen wholesale jobbing, boot, shoe, and leather dealers in Boston, whose

TRIAL OF OFFICER ALLEN. -The trial of Officer Allen for TRIAL OF OFFICER ALIEN.—The trial of Officer Allen for shooting Richard Hurlahy at the City Hall square, on the day of election, came off yesterday evening, at 5, p. m., at the jall, before Justices Murphy and Donn.

Mr. Joseph H. Bradley, sr., appeared for Mr. Allen. Several witnesses were examined, but their statements in some respects were quite conflicting. From the testimony of Captain Maxwell, of the army, who appeared to be a totally disinterested witness, it appeared that Mr. Allen did not fire his pistol until a stone struck him, and that his hat was knocked off. It seemed to Captain M. that a determined effort was being made to resist the officer while he was endeavoring to fairly discharge his duty in arresting his disorderly opponents; and that if he (Allen) had not fired he certainly would have been killed. The witness stated that he knew neither party, nor their politics, and that on seeing the affair he immediately proceeded home and wrote it down, while the incidents ceeded home and wrote it down, while the incidents were fresh in his memory. Two or three witnesses sub-stantiated Captain M.'s statement, and the justices, after a few moments' conference, stated that they believed that the officer was fully justified in what he had done; that he was resisted in the discharge of his duty, and that an example must be made to lawless characters, thereby letting them know that the law shall be upheld, and the officer defended in the legal discharge of its execution. Mr. Allen was therefore discharged from custody.

LAW AND ORDER TRIUMPHANT.—We copy with pleasure LAW AND CADER TRICKPHANT.—We copy with pleasure the annexed editorial paragraph from the National Intelli-gencer, describing the orderly and quiet manner in which the election of Monday passed off. It is a remarkable fact, that not a complaint has been made by any one who had been kept from the polls, or molested in the exercise of his right as a citizen to vote for whom he pleased:

of his right as a citison to vote for whom he pleased:

"As regards the peace of the city we are gratified in being able to say that law and order triumphed. The arrangements for access to the polis were so complete that no voter who felt an interest in the event was prevented from the peaceful exercise of his right of suffrage. Whatever there was of disorder was in localities apart from the polls, and everything which the conservators of the peace could do was done promptly and properly. To many of our well known add most popular citizens, who consented to serve as a part of the special police on the occasion, much credit is due in the attainment of this object. Their presence at the polls during the greater part of the day very naturally inspired respect, and had a tendency to repress the spirit of disorder. The value of a good axample neves had a happler influence. The character of the city, which, in some respects, had suffered detriment by the disorders of last year, is now redeemed; and every good citisen, whether attached to the victorious or to the vanquished party, must feel gratified at the general good order and good humor which prevailed."

day evening that as the procession of rejoicing democrates and anti-know-nothings passed by the office of that paper on Monday night outrages were committed by 'a portion of the procession and the crowd following immediately on its skirts.' Pistol-shots were fired and stones were thrown into the windows.

Election night in a large city seldom passes without some riotous demonstration, and we are glad to hear that the "four reporterial assistants of the Sier, who were noting passing events until midnight," found no outsege to chronicle cases; the attack on their own premises. We trust that the perpetrators will be brought to justice, and feel confident that it will then appear that they were not democrate or anti-know-nothings, but members of that party whose lawless conduct, and whose Fi-treatment of democrate, the Sier has so often demounced.

The amended charter makes additional provisions for the paving of streets. It authorizes council to levy a tax on coterminous property holders, of two-thirds of the amount necessary to set curbstones, or lay pavements, either on side-walks or streets. One of its provisions is for the enlargement of the corporation limits. As no man ever saw a city that was unwilling to grow, so no man will wonder that the vote on Monday was nearly unanimous for accepting the amended charter.

The Excursions of the Young Catholics' Friend Society to Glymont, which takes place to-morrow, should the weather be favorable, will be one of the most agreeable excursions of the senson. All necessary preparations for the enjoyment of a pleusant and cheerful day have been made by the committee of arrangements. Many of the tickets have already been disposed of, and as the number is limited, those who contemplate joining the excursion had better make early application.
